The bill does not include any provision for a second-stage pay raise next year--this was also one of the conditions that the President exacted in return for securing his approval of the legislation.

The increases will become effective retroactive to the first pay period after October 1. For most federal classified employees this will be the pay period that started October 10, although, for some it will be for pay periods that started as early as October 3. For postal workers it will be the pay period that started October 9.

The bill also provides the following:

1. Severance pay of up to one year for employees who lose their jobs through no fault of their own.
2. Appeal rights to the Civil Service Commission for federal classified employees who are denied their regular acceptable level of competence in-grade pay raises.
3. An increase in annual uniform allowances from the present $100 to $125.
4. Special relocation expenses for displaced postal employees transferred to other locales.
5. Premium overtime pay for postal substitutes for work in excess of 40 hours a week at the rate of 150 percent of their basic pay.
6. Premium pay for Sunday work for postal workers at the rate of 125 percent of basic compensation where Sunday is one of the employees five regular work days, and 150 percent when Sunday is the sixth or seventh day of the week.

U.S. SEEKS DISMISSAL OF BARGAINING RIGHTS SUIT--The government has filed a motion for summary dismissal of the National Federation of Federal Employees' suit challenging the constitutionality of presidential executive order 10988 which provides collective bargaining rights for postal and government employee unions.

The NFFE had filed suit in Federal Court in Washington asking that the executive order in its entirety be declared invalid and void. It contends that implementation of the order requires government agencies to act contrary to law and deprives government employees of their constitutional rights to representation by individuals and organizations of their own choosing.

All other government and postal employee unions strongly support the executive order, but NFFE, an unaffiliated group, contends it has been hurt by the order.

In seeking summary judgment to dismiss the suit, the government said the Constitution gives the President the authority to issue such executive orders as 10988. The government also said it has been established many times that the President is not limited to those powers listed in the Constitution or the statutes.

Government attorneys said executive order 10988 takes the form of an "internal directive by the President to agency heads for which congressional legislation is not necessary."

Disputing NFFE's contention that exclusive recognition denies representation rights to its members, the government argued that provisions of the executive order

U.S. SEEKS DISMISSAL OF BARGAINING RIGHTS SUIT--The government has filed a motion for summary dismissal of the National Federation of Federal Employees' suit challenging the constitutionality of presidential executive order 10988 which provides collective bargaining rights for postal and government employee unions.

The NFFE had filed suit in Federal Court in Washington asking that the executive order in its entirety be declared invalid and void. It contends that implementation of the order requires government agencies to act contrary to law and deprives government employees of their constitutional rights to representation by individuals and organizations of their own choosing.

All other government and postal employee unions strongly support the executive order, but NFFE, an unaffiliated group, contends it has been hurt by the order.

In seeking summary judgment to dismiss the suit, the government said the Constitution gives the President the authority to issue such executive orders as 10988. The government also said it has been established many times that the President is not limited to those powers listed in the Constitution or the statutes.

Government attorneys said executive order 10988 takes the form of an "internal directive by the President to agency heads for which congressional legislation is not necessary."

I should like to have Mr. Lovely transferred to this division for the following reasons. Mr. Lovely came to this division on November 29, 1947 as a weigher and worked until he resigned on August 8, 1952. While in this division, he worked as a weigher and also in the office doing considerable clerical work. Although this was some time ago, he does have a basic knowledge of the operations in our division. I found him to be very accurate and dependable. As you know, I have in mind making some changes at a future time whereby his clerical knowledge would be essential. I, therefore, would prefer someone like Mr. Lovely who developed a knowledge of our work as against someone who would be a total stranger in this division. I also understand that his work since his return to the Mint has been highly satisfactory.

NEW PAY RATES—This table shows the new pay rates for classified employees—effective retroactive to the first pay period in July—under the pay bill which was slated to be signed into law by President Johnson this week. The top line for each grade shows the new annual pay rate, the second line the old rate, and the third line the amount of the raise.

Receiving Deposits from Weigh Room

Weigh or witness the weighing of all material you will take to the Melt Room. Check the weight, Lot #, type of material, and Assay Number. Have all Melters read Melting Cards. Have all Melters fill out Melt Cards explaining possible loss in melting on back of card. If you have a Deposit and expect trouble, check it out with the Head or Assistant Head of the Division. Be sure all small deposits are in boxes and the boxes locked. The best friends you have are the Head and Assistant Head of the Division. All problems pertaining to the Melt Room should be discussed with them freely and honestly. You should have the same relationship with your melters.

Miscellaneous Deposits

Assayers Bar - From the Assay Office; the Assayer will furnish the number. They will take the Grains with them. Weigh all the samples. Melt the silver chloride - sweat Borax only and grind slag, then weigh silver bar and combine with the samples; that gives your before melting weight. Melt in usual manner.

Cash & Deposits Miscellaneous Bar - This is from the Head of the Division. Remove all steel cents possible. Put steel cents in bag and give to foreman of shipping and uncurrent. Melt the Cu, Ni, Ag, etc. in usual manner. After pouring, sweat residue and give bar to Head of Division to be put in next C & D Misc. Slag from sweat, grind and wash for K Bar.

Coiners Miscellaneous Bar - Once a year, usually in June, from Annealing Room; very dirty. Melt in 80 crucible, spin dirt off. While 80 crucible is still melting, remove iron from dirt. Run sweat and put results in 80, pour with cups and take assay sample. Coiner will furnish numbers for bars.. Slag from sweat to sweep cellar.

Grains Bar - Once a month. Contains all grains paid for during the month. Also, on occasion, Gold coins purchased. To be prepared under supervision of the Head or Assistant Head of the Division. After melting, to be weighed back with Head or Assistant Head of the Division.

K Bars - Once a month. Acquired from grinding and washing of old crucibles, stirrers, etc. Also, any metal that has lost its identity. To be weighed at the time you make the Grains Bar, under the same conditions. When you make the K Bar, store with Grains. Later it will become a surplus Bullion Recovery.

Silver Nix - From uncurrent coin, very dirty. Skin dirt off and save until the last melt has been poured. Sweat the dirt and then run the bar over and take a dip sample. Mark envelopes with the next numbers and put grains on envelope. Get bar numbers from Head or Assistant Head of Division.

Surplus Bullion Recovery - There are a number of different sources of these; quarterly clean up, K Bars, magnetic material removed from deposits, clean up behind and on top of furnaces. The melting card must designate where each is from, then an SB number will be given to each.

Quarterly Clean Up - just what it says. The floor sweepings from the Deposit Melt Room and the Residue from the Weigh Room are combined to make the Recovery. The quarters are September, December, March and June.

Regular Deposits

Regular Deposits - Melting Card has two numbers; the red number which is the Assay Number and which is stamped on the Bar, and the black number which is the Deposit Number and which is not too important in the Melting process.

Silver Coin Deposit - Once a month, don't confuse with Miscellaneous Deposits. It is a Regular Deposit. When melting this, be sure the crucible you use has never had gold in it. If you are not sure, take a new crucible.

Be sure you are right. If you are not sure, ask. You can learn something from everyone.

When you pour a bar, if at all possible, keep it. You now have the metal. You may not have it next time.

(2) The annual salary rate.

(3) The gross daily rate for "overtime" increase of compensation based on a 48-hour work week. This daily rate is based on 416 overtime hours for the year, equally dividing the yearly overtime earnings over 24 pay periods.

Principal functions of the Cashier's Division:

- Division consists of: (a) Office Section
(b) Counting & Shipping Section

1. Receiving custody of all new coin manufactured.
2. Shipping of coin to Federal Reserve Banks.
3. Purchase of gold and silver bullion received at Mint.
4. Purchase of minor coinage metal, and credits to this account.
5. Processing of uncurrent (unfit) coins returned to Mint by:
 - (a) Federal Reserve Banks
 - (b) Private banks and sources.
6. Sale of commercial gold bars to private refineries, laboratories, and dentists.
7. Storage of all fine certificate gold bars.

Herewith follows a brief general summary of the principal over-all functions mentioned above.

1. Receiving custody of all new coin produced:

Newly produced coin is delivered to the Cashier by the Coiner daily. With respect to silver coins produced, certain coins are selected from each daily "delivery" of coin. These special coins are termed "pyx" coins. As such coins are removed from deliveries, the Cashier repays the Coiner for the resulting shortages. The exact number of pieces are determined in the Cashier's Office and replacement made. Special pieces selected are transmitted to the Bureau daily for assay purposes, since no silver coins may be released until approval of deliveries are received from the Bureau. Other coins, called "Annual Assay Coins" are selected and stored in the Cashier's Vault. After the end of each quarter, the Cashier forwards the accumulation to the Philadelphia Mint, where they are held until the Annual Assay Commission meets to test the coins. The daily deliveries are receipted for by the Cashier and stored in the vaults.

2. Shipping of coin to Federal Reserve Banks.

Shipments of coin are made only against orders received from the Treasurer of the United States. These orders are usually received in code form. They are decoded and shipping orders prepared in the Cashier's Office. Copies of these orders are supplied to the Foreman of the Shipping Section. Coin shipped via parcel post is placed in mail pouches, with labels and tags affixed on the outside. Coin shipped via express is tagged on individual bags. Shipments for the past few years have been made to every Federal Reserve Bank in the nation. Coin prepared for shipment is kept under constant custody of representatives of the Cashier's Division since the coin is in the custody of this Division until released to carriers. All locks for mail shipments are listed in the Cashier's Office.

3. Purchase of gold and silver bullion received at the Mint.

Such material is received daily through the Weigh Clerk's Office. The values are calculated in the Cashier's Division, checked with the Accounting Division, and checks issued by the Cashier for same. All deposits paid are abstracted in this Office for daily transmission to the Accounting Division. Memorandums showing the calculations of each deposit are made up on the ditto machine for distribution to the various Mint Divisions concerned, and copies sent to the depositors. Complete records are maintained from which daily, monthly, quarterly, semi-annual/ and annual reports are made.

4. Purchase of minor coinage metal, and credits to this account;

Checks are prepared by the Cashier for all minor coinage metal purchased, and daily credits entered in this account for reimbursement of the cost of the metal used.

5. Processing of uncurrent (unfit) coins returned to Mint by:

- (a) Federal Reserve Banks
- (b) Private banks and sources

Coins which become unfit for further circulation are termed "uncurrent", and are turned in to the various Federal Reserve Banks by the member banks. The Federal Reserve Banks in turn ship these to the Mint after the close of each quarter. During the war years, substitutes were found for nickels and cents. Silver-manganese nickels were coined in place of the standard cupro-nickels and steel cents in place of bronze.

Unfit (uncurrent) coins returned to the Mints are re-coined into new coins. However, since the "war-nickels" and "cents" were made of metals not usable in recoinage, it is necessary to segregate the two types of nickels and also with respect to cents. Thus, all nickels have to be run through specially developed magnetic separators which can be used only for the separation of nickels. The cents are run over special magnetic separators to extract the steel cents. The silver-manganese nickels are melted into bars and held subject to instructions from the Bureau. The steel cents are sold to the U.P.&I. at Pueblo annually, usually in 20-ton lots. Tests are made with respect to the silver coins received. Careful records are kept in order to accurately check with the Melting & Refining Division, to which Division all uncurrent coin, excepting the silver-manganese nickels and steel cents, is delivered for melting.

Other unfit coin is received from private banks and sources.

Owing to the frequency of house fires, numerous coins are also damaged by fire. Private individuals and banks send these recovered lots to the Mint for redemption. These have to be segregated since coins not fused are redeemed at face value, while fused coins are redeemable at bullion value. The number of such lots received at the Mint has increased tremendously lately.

6. Sale of commercial gold bars:

These are sold in sizes of 12½, 25, 50 and 100 ounces each. Sales usually vary from $2,700 to $70,000 each. The bars are produced by the Refinery on request of the Cashier. They are then stamped and weighed in this Division and records kept against which the sales are made. This weighing requires extreme care since the weights of the individual bars should closely meet the mass weights as delivered to the Cashier by the Melting & Refining Division, in order to show as little loss to the Government as possible. Total sales of such bars total nearly $3,000,000.00 per year. Requests for quotations are usually received either by wire or air-mail and quotations returned in like fashion.

7. Custody and storage of all fine certificate gold bars.

As the Refinery produces gold bars, these are delivered to the Cashier for storage. Deliveries are made in "melts" usually numbering 22 bars to the melt. These are calculated as to fine ounces and values and stored by the Cashier's Division in the gold vaults. There are 5 large vaults in the Cashier's custody and one in the office. It should be borne in mind that the storage of gold bullion in the Denver Mint represents a substantial portion of the nation's wealth.

Custody of the values herein mentioned, i.e. gold bullion and coin, as well as uncurrent, is in the Cashier's Division. The Cashier is responsible for the safety measures used in protecting these values.

Numerous records are, of course, maintained to support all of the various functions mentioned and daily reports submitted to the Mint Divisions involved. The Cashier sends a Daily Statement of Receipts and Disbursements and Balances to the Director of the Mint, and a copy to the Chief of the Federal Reserve System in Washington.

Total fine gold bars on hand this date -	$5,285,740.925.99.
Total commercial fine gold bars on hand -	2,458,178.75
Coin, currency, etc. on hand	7,071,403.70

Annual value of commercial bars sold - approximately $3,000,000.00

Annual shipments of coin:

1932 - - - $ 515,000.

1940 - - - 9,366,925.

1941 - - - 20,121,385.

1952 - - - 49,536,189.

Contacts with the general public are primarily in items:

- 3 - purchases of gold & silver deposits; payments for these should be made as expeditiously as possible.
- 4 - purchases of minor coinage metal.
- 5 - Processing of miscellaneous lots of unfit coin.
- 6 - Sales of commercial gold bars. Buyers normally do not keep a large stock of such bars on hand owing to the high values.

Mrs. Alma K. Schneider, Superintendent
Mr. Marshall M. Reddish, Asst. Supt.

January 27, 1956

A. L. Philippus, Cashier

Additional help, Shipping Section, Cash & Deposits Division

With the addition of recent help in the Office, I believe when these new employees become proficient in their respective duties, the office set-up should function very well.

The Deposit Melt Room, with the recent addition of Mr. Hayes, seems to be in good shape.

The Shipping Section is now our weak link. As you know, Mr. Kennedy, Foreman, has 2 employees under him. Mr. Kollander has had considerable trouble with his back and we have his doctor's statement advising against heavy work. Mr. Zea, in his 64th year, is not what we can consider a vigorous man to do heavy lifting.

We have some $300,000 in uncurrent coin still unreviewed, with more to come, also $363,000 in circulated dollars to be reviewed. This crew worked about 10 days cutting copper, with consequent loss of time on review work. Silver bars are now again coming in from Kennecott, yesterday's shipment consisting of 500 bars via P.I.E., requiring half a day to unload. Changing from express to motor truck line, may mean that similar large shipments will come in. It is also my understanding that the Bureau intends shipping $16,000,000 in Standard Dollars to this Mint, of which $550,000 have already been received. Due to the number of uncurrent and unfit dollars included, these must be reviewed.

Until the double shift in the Coining Division, we had 3 men detailed from the M&R to this Division.

If we are to keep this phase of the work going, and the Bureau usually instructs us in April or May to process all such coin in order to alleviate the work of the Settlement Committee, we should have 2 additional men in this section. Furthermore, we are badly crippled with fork-lift operators, or rather the lack of them. If we could have at least one younger man in this section, we could teach him the operation of these lifts, which would also be of great assistance during Settlement. If the shipment of the $16,000,000 in dollars is to be done in small installments, it may be that we can get by with 1 younger man, providing the shipping program is not greatly accelerated.

Have Fred train to this Division - 2/13/56

NEW PAY LAW--A look at the new Classification Act schedule for Federal classified employees shows that the amount of their new pay raise actually averages 7.7 percent. Although generally referred to as a 7.5 percent raise, the increase averages higher because the new schedule was rounded out to the next highest "0" or "5" in many cases. Also, the amount of the within-grade increases was raised in some cases to attain a better proportion between the pay levels.

Here are the new pay schedules for classified employees and postal workers:

LABOR-MANAGEMENT PLAN TO BE UNVEILED--The non-partisan, business-supported National Civil Service League next month will disclose its recommendations for establishing more satisfactory labor-management relations in the Federal service.

The league for the last six months had studied the labor-management practices between Government departments and agencies and Federal and postal employee unions.

The league's Committee on Employee Organizations is expected to urge a more liberal labor-management policy in Government, more formal recognition of employee unions and more extensive dealings with them on matters involving personnel policies and grievances.

The committee is composed of top industrialists, educators and labor officials. It is headed by Winston Paul, New York industrialist who is chairman of the General Aniline and Film Corporation Finance Committee.

Other members are Cecil Morgan of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, Sterling Spero of the Graduate School of Public Administration and Social Service of New York University, James Mitchell of Brookings Institution, John W. Macy, Jr., of Wesleyan University; Prof. Dale Yoder of Stanford University's School of Business, George Richardson of the AFL-CIO, and Arnold Zander, president of the State, County and Municipal Employees Union.

In addition to recognition of public employee unions, the committee also will make recommendations on the degree of collective bargaining advisable in Government, a dues checkoff system, etc.

The committee's study is especially timely in view of the successful enactment

OFFICE OF
DIRECTOR OF THE MINT

IN REPLYING QUOTE INITIALS

Mint Personnel Procedures Letter No. 17

To All Offices
Bureau of the Mint

November 30, 1959

SUBJECT: Position Classification (Position Descriptions)

Mint Personnel Procedures Letter No. 11, dated March 2, 1959, is amended as follows:

The Civil Service Commission has revised the section on preparation of position descriptions in Chapter P-2 of the Federal Personnel Manual. This section now prescribes a standard of adequacy for position descriptions under the Classification Act. The manner of writing descriptions has been left to the agencies, provided adequate information is contained in the description for classification purposes.

The Mint will follow the practices set forth below:

1. Position descriptions will be strictly limited in length to two typewritten pages or less.
2. Factor headings, prescribed in the discontinued Guide for Writing Position Descriptions (SF-75a), will be eliminated in future descriptions.
3. Descriptions will include the information formerly given under the factor headings, which is necessary for the proper evaluation of the positions; i.e., (a) scope and effect of the work performed, (b) supervision received and exercised, (c) guides used, (d) decisions and commitments made, (e) special qualification requirements or specific mental demands, and (f) significant personal work contacts. These factors may be incorporated in the description of the actual work assignments, or may be stated in a single paragraph after the description of the duties. Any description of the function which the position serves should be summarized briefly in the introduction.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT QUALIFICATION AND SKILLS UPDATING INVENTORY

INSTRUCTIONS: From time to time Treasury employees through off-the-job attendance at school and participation in self-development activities increase their skills and qualifications to a significant degree, but for some reason or another fail to make this information part of their official record. Other employees may possess needed specialized skills and qualifications which they are not currently using and which aren't purposely reflected in their records.

By completing this form you will have the opportunity to make sure your record is up to date. It will also provide your supervisor and the Personnel Officer an opportunity to make a summary review of your qualifications in terms of immediate and anticipated personnel requirements.

agement and better work production programs, agencies can get along with less employees.

Consequently, agencies soon will be directed to make an intensive effort to eliminate unnecessary jobs.

CSC and Budget officials feel that this can be done without firing anyone. They feel that merely by not filling some of the numerous vacancies in Government that occur each year through regular turnover, a substantial reduction in jobs can be achieved.

The CSC already has asked agencies to review their vacancies with the view of only filling those absolutely necessary. However, the Administration's forthcoming action will be along much stronger lines in directing agencies to hold down the number of jobs.

Ironically, some of the congressmen making the biggest fuss about the sharp increase in Federal jobs voted for the additional appropriations that make this possible. After all, agencies can't hire new employees unless Congress votes the money.

Nevertheless, CSC and Budget officials feel that agencies can get along with less employees and that every effort should and must be made along these lines.

SENATE UNIT OKAYS PAY BILL--The Senate Civil Service Committee has approved pay legislation giving total two-phase pay raises ranging from 4 to 9 percent for Federal classified employees and about 11 percent for postal clerks and carriers. Postal supervisors and other postal officials would get increases of up to 15 percent or more.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT - BUREAU OF THE MINT

MAR 28 1963

DENVER MINT

J O B D E S C R I P T I O N

Position Title: ROLLER - 18" MILLS

Organisation: Coining Division, Rolling & Cutting Section

Description of Kind of Work Performed:

Primary function is the operation of 18" breakdown mill and 18" finishing mill in the rolling of large ingots into finished strip for the production of coinage blanks. Also, as circumstances require, the incumbent may operate other equipment such as strip slitter, blanking press, or slab-coil annealing furnace.

Nature of Operation -

Material operated on is ingots of bronze, cupro-nickel, and silver, which are 1 3/4" thick X 12" wide X 60" long and weigh 410 to 480 pounds. The breakdown mill reduces the 1 3/4" thick ingots to .230" thickness in 12 to 15 passes. At this stage the ingots have lengthened to 37' long slabs. The slabs are then transferred by crane to the finishing mill where they are reduced to precise finished thicknesses in 6 to 9 passes, the final product being coiled strip ready for slitting and blanking. Annealing is required at two stages in the reduction of the cupro-nickel and silver ingots to condition the metal, and this requires removal of the material from the system and its return after annealing. All handling of material around the mills is done by conveyors, cranes and other mechanical devices.

Working Procedure -

Breakdown Mill

Operator controls mill and handling equipment in the mill circuit from station on the entry side.

Sets roll spacing with motor-driven screw-down on mill for successive reductions of slab according to prescribed rolling schedules. Feeds ingots and slabs into the mill with motor-driven roller entry conveyor. Controls motor-driven run-out roller conveyor which receives slabs as they are discharged from mill. On all except final pass he delivers slabs from run-out conveyor by push-off mechanism into power-driven chain cross-over conveyor. On final pass he reverses push-off and delivers slabs into receiving rack alongside run-out conveyor.

Delivers slabs in cross-over conveyor on to power-driven roller return conveyor and thence into power-driven transfer wheel, which is located opposite and parallel to the mill entry conveyor. Operates transfer wheel to return slabs to entry conveyor as needed for feeding into mill. Regulates volume of cooling water sprayed on rolls to control head generated by rolling. Sprays oil or solvent on slabs entering mill as experience dictates to properly condition slab for each pass. As occasion demands, assists in loading entry conveyor rack with ingots or slabs, disengaging slabs that become stuck in conveyor system, transferring finishing material from the mill, and performs miscellaneous duties to promote operational efficiency.

Finishing Mill

On Entry Side:

Controls operation of mill and upcoiler from station on entry side of mill.

Sets roll spacing with motor-driven screw-down for successive reductions according to prescribed schedules, making corrections to hand micrometer gaugings of strip when necessary. All strip is in coiled form after first pass.

Regulates entry of strip into mill with pinch roll, directing helpers to manually push coiled strip into position to feed through mill. Inserts holding bar through coil to stabilize it as it unwinds into mill. Regulates cooling water to rolls and oil spray on to strip to maintain proper rolling conditions. Observes strip as it runs from mill and is coiled in upcoiler. Operates valve lever to eject coil from upcoiler at right instant to form tail of desired length. Operates cradle elevator to lift coil into position for run-off on to return conveyor.

As occasion demands, assists in transferring coils between storage conveyor system and finishing mill, in removing fouled material from mill, and performs miscellaneous duties to promote operational efficiency.

On Run Out Side:

Adjusts upcoiler for size coil desired as strips become thinner with each pass through mill. Straightens coil in cradle elevator after ejection from upcoiler. Signals operator on entry side of mill to raise elevator. Sees that coil moves off elevator on to return conveyor. Signals operator when to lower elevator. Assumes responsibility for seeing that gauge of finished strip is within required tolerance to produce good blanks as to weight.

Gauges all coils on next to last pass with hand micrometer and marks gauge on coil as a guide for mill setting on final pass. Has test pieces and test coils rolled on final pass. Has test coils blanked and weighs samples to obtain variance from standard weight. Using this information in conjunction with gauge markings on coils from previous pass, adjusts mill for finishing pass of each coil through mill to obtain finished strip of correct gauge.

During periods of heavy production, 100% of time is devoted to performing the duties described above. During periods of reduced production, the incumbent may spend up to 40% of time on duties such as operation of strip slitter, blanking presses, or slab-coil annealing furnace.

Description of Level of Work Performed:

(a) Supervision Received by Job:

Supervision is exercised by Foreman or Assistant Foreman who assigns mill to be operated, schedules material to be rolled, and periodically checks the progress of the work.

(b) Supervision Exercised by Job:

Acts as lead man of mill crew to keep the work moving along and to see that certain details are taken care of as occasion arises.

(c) Responsibility:

Is responsible for abiding by safety rules and regulations issued for the protection of employees.

Responsible for handling mill and conveyor controls to obtain maximum output of a vital production unit. Responsible for accurately following rolling schedules to obtain required gauges of rolled material at all stages. Responsible for watching material and equipment to detect and report irregularities to foreman.

(d) Job Knowledge:

Position Title: PRESSMAN

Organization: Coining Division, Coin Press Section

Primary function is the operation of coining presses in the stamping of blanks into coin.

Duties:

Operates four coining presses regularly and may operate additional presses under special circumstances.

Makes preparations for starting presses each morning as follows:

- Inspects machines for dirt or oil drippings and removes same.
- Opens glass cup oilers and services zerk grease fittings.
- Checks cup and ball and pin and shoe joints for lubrication.
- Brushes dies briskly with wire brush to get thoroughly clean.
- Fills feeder tubes with blanks and sets first blanks in collar over lower dies by hand.
- Puts feed hopper in place over feeder tube, tightens connection, and puts feeder drive-belt in operating position.
- Starts each press in turn, using inching button to make sure feeder fingers are operating properly in delivering blanks into collar holes. Then steps up press to full speed and makes final check for proper functioning. Inspects coins at once for defects.

Draws blanks from mezzanine chute into shuttle tray mounted on casters. Delivers blanks to each press with shuttle tray and fills press feeder hopper with blanks from tray, using hand scoop. Refills press feed hoppers periodically.

When catch trap, which receives stamped coin through delivery tube on press, becomes full, the pressman catches sample coins and examines them with magnifying glass for defects of any kind. If coins are all right, he dumps into tote box on casters located under it. When tote box becomes full of stamped coin, he shuttles it to nearby hoist, lifts it and dumps it into large tote boxes on truck.

Racks up about 300 ounces of coins in shaker tray every 2 hours and examines them for edge defects and mis-strikes. Gets die setter to check and approve coin.

Stops press and cleans dies when coin defects due to dirt are found.

When coin defects due to any other cause are found, he stops press and calls die setter, who takes over until trouble is corrected.

Keeps batches of coin from catch trap containing defective pieces separate from good coin until it is reviewed and defective pieces removed.

When press feed hopper becomes fouled, the pressman detaches hopper and rotary assembly, dumps blanks from hopper, and looks for cause of trouble. If due to bad blank, he removes same, reassembles feeder and starts press again. If trouble is due to other causes, he calls die setter.

Watches press bearings for overheating, paying particular attention to cup & ball, pin & shoe, and crankshaft bearings, seeing that all items are properly lubricated.

Checks friction block guides for overheating and lubricates them lightly when needed with oil on fingertips.

Shuts down presses at end of shift as scheduled by foreman. Checks final coins stamped and delivers all coin into large tote boxes on trucks. Shuts off all oil cups. Dismantles feeding assembly, wipes all available working parts of press, replaces feed fingers and feeder tube on press, and covers press table and dies with cloth. Sweeps floor in vicinity of presses and checks for stray blanks or coin to complete check of material with Process Weigh Section.

Manually pushes ingots or annealed slabs from loading table on to mill entry conveyor for first pass through mill.

Frees slabs that get stuck in any part of conveying equipment which conveys slabs from discharge back to entry side of mill, using hand hook or crane to move slabs as necessary.

Sees that slabs returning to entry conveyor from transfer wheel are in proper position to move into the mill.

Pounds, bars, or prys bent or crooked slabs that are difficult to enter into mill and occasionally, at the direction of the operator, uses crane to lift slab and turn it end for end so it will enter mill.

Operates valve to oil slabs entering mill as directed.

Assists in transferring stacks of rolled slabs from discharge rack of breakdown mill to entry rack of finishing mill or to storage on floor, operating crane and multiple hook lift as directed.

Assists in transferring slabs from discharge rack of breakdown mill to transfer car for transport to storage conveyors or to annealing furnace.

Transports rolled slabs to alligator shear in basement and trims ends or cuts up bad ingots for scrap.

Cleans equipment and working area as directed.

18" Finishing Mill

Working with an associate, manually pulls rolled slabs from rack onto entry conveyor of finishing mill, using steel hook.

Manually pushes slabs into mill for first pass. Thereafter, material is in coils.

Operates air valve to lower stop on return conveyor, and releases coil which runs by gravity onto mill entry conveyor.

JOB DESCRIPTIONS - WAGE BOARD JOBS

In Denver Mint Personnel Letter 63-4 (May 13, 1963) you were advised that a study of wage board wage rates is being undertaken in the Bureau of the Mint.

The first step in this study which will start immediately is a complete review of all wage board job descriptions in order to insure that they are current and accurate.

Supervisors should immediately start reviewing their wage board job descriptions since new descriptions with current dates and signatures are required. Attached to this letter are supplementary instructions for the guidance of supervisors in developing information under Item 7 of the job description form P.D. 76. Since all job descriptions must be submitted to the Bureau not later than August 16, 1963 it is imperative that this project be started at once. The Personnel Office will cooperate fully with supervisors in this program. Desk audits by a member of the Personnel staff will be made when deemed necessary.

7. (a) SUPERVISION RECEIVED BY JOB

Under this heading give the job title of the worker's immediate supervisor and explain briefly the kind and degree of supervision given the worker. For example: Are oral or written instructions given? Are they of a general or specific nature? Does the worker follow blueprints, drawings and specifications? Is the worker's performance or work product checked or inspected? In short, just how closely is the worker controlled in his work by his supervisor?

(b) SUPERVISION EXERCISED BY JOB

Under this heading give the number of workers supervised, by job titles, and explain briefly the kind and degree of supervision exercised over them. For example: Are the instructions given subordinates general or specific, oral or written? Does occupant of job determine the method by which his subordinates will do their work? Does he lay out their work? Does he train subordinates? Does he check or inspect his subordinates' work performance or product? In short, just how closely does he control the work of his subordinates?

(c) RESPONSIBILITY

Under this heading explain briefly the worker's responsibility for the product, for conserving material, for preventing (1) damage to equipment, (2) spoilage, or (3) injury to other workers and for dealing with others. For example: What tools, equipment, materials or product may be lost or what injuries may result by the failure of the worker to do his job properly? (Note: Answer the preceding question only if the loss would be material in terms of time and money lost.) Are such losses likely to occur in light of existing regulations, instructions, inspections and supervision? Is the worker required to deal with others in his work? On what kind of matters? Does worker check or inspect other workers' performance or work products? If so, whose work and for what purpose?

(d) JOB KNOWLEDGE

Under this heading explain briefly the knowledge required of the worker by the job. For example: Indicate the kind and amount of experience and training required to perform the work. Give consideration to knowledge required of (1) machines and equipment used, (2) materials used, (3) working procedures and methods, (4) blueprints, and (5) shop mathematics. Must an apprenticeship be served in a trade in order to do the work, and if so, how long is the apprenticeship?

(OVER)

(e) MENTAL APPLICATION

Under this heading explain briefly the degree or amount of concentration, mental planning, or mental alertness demanded by the job. For example: Does the worker plan the sequence of operations necessary to accomplish his work? Is the job of a repetitive nature? Must the worker be constantly alert to prevent errors, or is the job one which requires only casual attention on his part? Must the worker exercise independent judgment in his work, that is, what important decisions is he required to make?

(f) JOB SKILL

Under this heading explain briefly the speed, accuracy and dexterity required, the principal machines, tools, gauges and instruments used, and the degree of care and expertness required by the job. For example: What allowable errors or tolerances, required speed or other skill and production standards exist for the job? (Note: If equipment, machines, gauges, tools and instruments used on the job were explained under JOB KNOWLEDGE, do not repeat this information under this heading.)

(g) PHYSICAL DEMANDS

Under this heading explain briefly the demands placed on the worker by physical activities, working conditions, or hazards of the job. For example: Does the work have unusual requirements with respect to: walking, balancing, climbing, crawling, standing, stooping, kneeling, sitting, lifting, carrying, pushing, pulling, feeling, talking, hearing, seeing, etc.? Is the work performed under unusual working conditions? Consider conditions such as: heat, cold, wet, dusty, dirty, odors, noisy, lighting and ventilation, vibration, moving objects, cramped quarters, high places, etc. Is the work unusually hazardous, considering the likelihood of injuries occurring such as cuts, bruises, burns, sprains, hernia, fractures, impairment of sight or hearing, loss of parts, electric shocks, occupational diseases, etc.?

STUDY OF WAGE BOARD WAGE RATES

We have received notice that a study of the system used for fixing the pay of wage board employees in the Bureau of the Mint is being undertaken.

The study will cover a review and evaluation of all wage board jobs at the Philadelphia and Denver Mints and the New York and San Francisco Assay Offices. Pay plans used by Army and Air Force and by non-defense agencies will be studied. One of these plans may be adopted, if useable, or a modification of one or all plans may be developed.

It is anticipated that the study will continue for a period of approximately one year. During this time, regular and routine wage actions, such as promotions, reassignments, annual wage adjustments, etc., will continue to be processed in the usual manner.

SUBJECT: Step Increase for _____ due on _____ (Name of Employee)

TO: _____
(Supervisor)

FROM: Personnel Office

The employee mentioned above will meet the time requirements for a step increase on the date shown. Before he may receive this increase, however, you, as his supervisor, must certify that his performance is at an "acceptable level of competence."

One of your most important supervisory responsibilities is to keep each employee continually aware of the quality of his work. If he shows any weaknesses that must be improved for effective work performance, you must let him know at once where he is falling below an acceptable level, how he can improve, and how he can be helped.

It is particularly important, therefore, that you review this employee's work performance and overall competence now. If there are any significant weaknesses in performance, or any major areas that need improvement, either of which seriously affect his acceptable level of competence, you should discuss them now with the employee. Such a discussion now will give the employee an opportunity to try to improve. It will let him know in advance that he has certain weaknesses which, unless eliminated, might very well result in the withholding of the step increase when the required waiting period is completed.

Please make certain that you keep a record of any such discussion you hold with the employee. This record will be important in acting upon any request for reconsideration the employee might make later. This notice itself may be used for recording the nature of the discussion held.

At least 60 days before the due date shown above, you should remind this employee in writing of any discussions you have had with him about conditions that might affect the granting of a step increase. Thereafter, at or around the due date, a final written determination as of the due date but covering the entire waiting period will also be required.

However, where receipt of applications has been closed because the supply of eligibles is adequate, applications received from individuals from outside the state may be returned.

NOTICE: ANY ELIGIBILITIES ESTABLISHED PRIOR TO JANUARY 1, 1964 FOR TYPIST OR STENOGRAPHER WILL NOT BE TRANSFERRABLE TO THIS EXAMINATION. YOU MUST REAPPLY FOR CONSIDERATION UNDER THIS EXAMINATION.

Special Note

Stenographers and Typists are urgently needed in Washington, D. C. If you are interested in employment there in these positions you should send your application card (5000AB) to the office covering your area of residence. (See "Offices Accepting Applications and Maintaining Eligibility Lists for Areas Indicated.") Those who make eligible ratings may then send their notice and a completed "Application for Federal Employment" (Form 57) to the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. 20415 for consideration for employment in the Washington area.

How to Qualify as a Typist

FOR GRADE GS-2: You must pass an examination which will include a test covering verbal abilities, a clerical aptitude test (including arithmetic computations), and a typing test consisting of typing an exercise from plain copy. In addition you must have completed or expect to complete within 9 months a 4 year high school course or have 6 months of "appropriate" experience. (See below for description of appropriate experience.)

FOR GRADE GS-3: You must make a higher score in each of the tests described for GS-2 (above) and, in addition, have had one academic year of substantially full-time study in a resident school above the high school level or have one year of "appropriate" experience. (See below under "Substituting Education" for the type of education that will meet the above requirement.)

How to Qualify as a Stenographer

FOR GRADE GS-3: You must meet the same requirements and take the same tests as for a GS-2 Typist, shown above, plus passing a stenography test. This test consists of dictation at the rate of 80 words per minute and questions to be answered from the dictation notes. You will not make any typewritten transcription of your notes. Any system of shorthand notes is acceptable provided that the notes are given to the examiner after they have been used to answer the dictation questions. The use of typewriters for making notes is not permitted as the noise of the machines would interfere with the dictation.

FOR GRADE GS-4: You must make a higher score in each of the tests described for the GS-2 Typist shown above and, in addition, have one year of "appropriate" experience as described below. Education may be substituted for this year of experience. (See below for information under "Substituting Education.")

Appropriate Experience: Is experience which included as a significant part of the work, typing, stenography or machine transcription, depending on the position you applied for. Stenography experience is considered appropriate for both typing and stenography eligibilities and machine transcription is acceptable for typing eligibility. However, typing experience is not acceptable for meeting the experience requirements for stenography eligibility.

Substituting Education: Education is considered qualifying in meeting the one-year GS-3 Typist or GS-4 Stenographer experience requirement if it was received at a school where high school graduation was required for entrance and in which you successfully completed study that was not primarily limited to courses in typing and/or stenography. To be qualifying this study must have included at least 20 classroom hours of instruction per week. One academic year consists of 36 weeks of this study or 30 semester hours, or the equivalent. Your high school education can be used only for the 6 month experience requirement for GS-2 Typist and GS-3 Stenographer eligibility.

General Information

The Written Test: See the "How to Qualify" section for description of the tests. The test takes approximately 3 hours with the stenography portion or 2 hours when the stenography test is not taken. Sample test questions will be furnished you after you apply.

Availability of Typewriters: You will generally have to furnish your own typewriter. The card you receive telling you when and where to report for the test will tell you if typewriters are available. You may use your own even if they are available. If you wish to use an electric typewriter you should contact the Examiner in Charge of the office where the test will be given to find out if there are electrical outlets in the examination room.

Special Provision for Blind Applicants: Applicants for position of dictating machine transcriber who are blind will be required to take the test on verbal abilities and the typing test but not the clerical aptitude portion of the test. At the time of filing application they should indicate that they are blind and request a reader to read the questions and record their answers in the verbal abilities test. They will not be permitted to provide their own readers. Such applicants will be provided with a dictating machine recording in lieu of plain copy for the typing test. They must furnish their own transcribing machines for use in the examination room. On their application or in a letter accompanying it, they must state the model of the transcribing machine they intend to use so that the proper kinds of belts, tapes, or discs may be provided.

Reapplying for the Examination: As long as the examination is open, if you make an ineligible rating, you may retake the test twice without time limit; thereafter, you may not take the test more often than once every 90 days. If you are rated eligible you may not recompute to improve your score.

Term of Eligibility: Your eligibility from this examination is limited to 12 months. At the end of that time you will have to recompetite in the examination if you wish further eligibility. The examination must be open at the time you apply or your application will not be accepted.

Basis of Rating: Your eligible rating will be a combination of the scores you received on the tests. You must pass the verbal and clerical abilities tests and the performance test for the position(s) for which you apply. There is no passing or failing score for the arithmetic test although a low score on this test may eliminate you from consideration for positions requiring arithmetic ability.

Certification in Lieu of the Performance Tests: You may present a certificate attesting to the degree of proficiency you have in typing and/or stenography instead of taking the performance tests. A form is available at most places where application cards may be obtained which can be used by a teacher of typing or stenography in a public or parochial school (or any accredited educational institution) to certify to your abilities. This certificate is good only for use within 6 months after it is issued and expires after that time. This certificate does not relieve you of passing the verbal abilities and clerical tests.

Age Limits: The minimum age limit for these positions is 18, however, the age limit is waived for high school graduates. Applications may be accepted from high school students who expect to graduate within 9 months, but they cannot be considered for appointments until all requirements of eligibility are met.

Tax Reduction Aim of Drive

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. — (AP) — The Eisenhower administration is whacking away at the federal payroll and at far-flung government programs in an economy drive aimed at making a tax cut possible next year.

Government agencies are under orders not to fill any job vacancies caused by death, retirement or resignation without specific and prior approval.

They have been told, too, to cut spending by as much as $1 billion below the $71.8 billion proposed for this year by President Eisenhower in his budget message to Congress. And the aim is to hold next year's spending at or below this year's level.

A top administration adviser said Wednesday, "We've had these things before. But this time we really mean business. We're going to cut, cut, cut."

Sen. Harry Byrd (D) of Va., long-time economy advocate, Wednesday said he sees signs that the administration is making an earnest effort to cut federal spending. He added: "If this trend continues, I believe we can look forward to a reduced budget next year."

The administration adviser said a determined effort is being made to whittle down the federal payroll, which has climbed by 319,000 in the last eight months to a total of 2,285,211. The civilian monthly payroll is now running at close to $1 billion.

U.S. Civil Service Director Elder Dies

Walter E. Elder, 53, regional director of the U.S. Civil Service Commission since 1958, was found dead — apparently of a heart attack—in his office at the Denver Federal Center Wednesday morning.

Elder, of 635 Dudley St., Lakewood, was discovered slumped over in his chair at 9:05 a.m. by his secretary, Miss Shirley Cook.

Elder was born Aug. 12, 1911, in Tulsa, Okla., and was graduated from the University of Kansas at Lawrence in 1934. He was a Phi Beta Kappa scholar there.

He was awarded a law degree by George Washington Law School in Washington; D. C., four years later.

Elder worked for the Federal Communications Commission from 1937 to 1939. He joined the Civil Service Commission in April, 1939, as a junior field examiner in Washington.

He was first president of the Denver Federal Executive Board; on the executive board of the Denver Area Council, Boy Scouts of America; a past president of the defunct Federal Business Association, and a member of the Society of Personnel Administration and the American Federation of Government Employees.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Olinger Mortuary, Speer Blvd. and Sherman St.

Harold E. Blinn, deputy regional director, will assume Elder's duties pending appointment of a successor.

He is survived by his widow, Maybelle; two daughters, Mrs. James Sylla, El Paso, Tex., and Marcia, and a son, Nicholas, with the U.S. Coast Guard in the Pacific. 10-14-64

WASHINGTON TALK- -The Democratic National Committee is taking political soundings to see if Democratic Congressional candidates in some of the southern and border states are being adversely affected by the situation in Mississippi. The Democrats fear that Kennedy supporters in these states who face Republican opponents may have been hurt by the situation.

CONGRESS APPROVES PAY RAISE- -Congress has approved and sent to the White House the bill raising the salaries of government classified and postal employees.

President Kennedy's approval of the bill is considered certain.

The two phase pay raise is the same as shown in our pay tables for government classified and postal workers published in the past two issues.

The first part of the pay raise will become effective on the first pay day after President Kennedy signs the bill into law, which should be within the next four or five days. The second phase of the raise will become effective January 1, 1964.

The total two part pay raise for federal employees ranges from 5 percent for those in the lowest grades to 21 percent for those in the top step of grade 15. The total overall average for classified employees is 9.6 percent. Employees in top grade 18 receive a 9 percent raise, bringing the classification act pay ceiling up to $20,000.

Postal workers get a total two part pay raise averaging around 11 percent. Postal clerks and letter carriers pay raises total about 10.7 percent. Rural letter carriers get about the same amount. Fourth class postmasters get a total 15 percent raise.

The waiting period for federal classified employees automatic in-step raises is changed. Employees will have to serve one year in each of the first three in-steps, two years in the next three steps and three years in the final three steps, before getting their in-grade salary promotions.

Employees will get credit for the time they have already served in their present in-step. If they have served enough time in their present in-step to qualify them for advancement to the next in-step, this will be done automatically when the bill becomes law. The same principle applies to postal workers in receiving credit for time spent in their present in-steps, etc.

The bill also guarantees federal classified employees on promotion to a higher grade a cash increase equivalent to the amount of at least two in-steps of their old grade.

Also, considerable more latitude has been given the Civil Service Commission to adjust salaries for hard to fill jobs. In addition merit in-step advancements are authorized.

The bill also sets up an annual review of government and postal salaries to be conducted under the supervision of the President. The President each year will submit the results of this study to the Congress as well as any recommendations he might have for adjusting salaries.

The bill also liberalizes various features of the Civil Service retirement system.

Retired government workers would get a 5 percent raise in annuities starting next January 1. (The effective date of the retirement provisions depends on whether Congress before adjournment approves funds to cover the $49 million cost of the retirement liberalization provisions. Otherwise, the actual implementation of the retirement features will have to be put off until next year to await Congressional action on the appropriations. This does not apply to the pay raise portion of the bill, which goes into effect on enactment and does not need any specific appropriation by Congress to become effective.)

Also, retirement annuities will be automatically adjusted in the future whenever living costs rise by 3 percent or more. This will assure retirees as well as present employees upon retirement that their annuities in the future will keep pace with rising living costs.

Denver Mint Personnel Letter 63-6

STEP INCREASES

The Federal Salary Reform Act of 1962 made two important changes regarding step increases for classified employees:

1. The waiting period for step increases has been changed to the following: 52 weeks for advancement to steps 2, 3 and 4 of a grade; 104 weeks for advancement to steps 5, 6 and 7 of a grade; and 156 weeks for advancement to steps 8, 9 and 10 of a grade.
2. A positive finding that the employee's work is of an acceptable level of competence, based on overall performance throughout the required waiting period.

Supervisors will be reminded by the Personnel Office of their responsibility to review an employee's performance at least 90 days before the due date of a step increase for the employee. The supervisor will be notified and asked to review the employee's performance and to advise the employee in writing, as warranted, at least 60 days in advance of the due date if there is a possibility that a step increase is to be denied.

If an employee's work at the due date of the step increase is not of an acceptable level of competence the employee will be notified in writing that he is not being granted a step increase. This notice must state the reasons for not granting the step increase, inform the employee of his right to request administrative reconsideration of that decision, to whom he should direct the request, and the deadline by which it should be made. This notice should be sent to the employee as close to the date upon which he becomes eligible for the step increase as is administratively feasible. A copy of this notice will be retained in the employee's personnel folder.
